(North Charleston, S.C.) On April 29, 2015, the Charleston County Sheriff's Office presented Coach Britt Reames with the Charleston County Sheriff's Office Citizen Award. Coach Reames displayed exemplary efforts and commitment in helping develop a youth baseball camp program. Charleston Power Brigade Baseball Camp is the name of the camps. In the past two years, there were four youth baseball camps held that gross over $20,000 in proceeds that have help support at least 500 underprivileged youth in our community. The proceeds are used to purchase baseball gloves and other baseball equipment for the youths.

Currently, Britt Reames is a pitching coach at the Citadel. He has had many awards in his life to include being inducted into The Citadel and Charleston Baseball Hall of Fame. Britt grew up in the Charleston area and became one of the most dominating pitchers during his time at The Citadel. Britt's career in Major League baseball lasted the better half of 6 seasons. After his baseball career he started his coaching career at Furman University before being offered a job at his old alma mater The Citadel.

Because of Coach Reames' professionalism and dedication in helping the community's youth, he was presented with the Charleston County Sheriff's Office Citizen Award.
