Sheriff's Lieutenant Appointed to Prestigious APA Committee

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE
December 4, 2020

(North Charleston, SC) A polygraph examiner with the Charleston County Sheriff's Office was appointed to the Ethics and Grievance Committee of the American Polygraph Association (APA). This October, Lieutenant David Willoughby received an appointment to the Committee, alongside 10 other selections from around the world. The appointment tasks the Lieutenant with the responsibility to receive and expeditiously, fairly and impartially investigate all allegations of misconduct against members of the APA. According to the APA website, the association exists to "promote the highest standards of professional, ethical and scientific practices of its 2,700 + members through the establishment and publication of standards for professional practice including techniques, instrumentation, analysis, research, training and continuing education." The committee members were selected from across the country, as well as from South Africa and the United Kingdom. Lieutenant Willoughby has been with the Charleston County Sheriff's Office since 1988, where he currently supervises the Office of Professional Standards.
