Chapter 2.1 Vision Statement

Our vision for the future of Charleston County is tempered by its history. Charleston County is characterized by its natural scenic beauty, active waterways and port, extensive history, truly diverse culture, and vibrant business climate. However, our greatest asset is our people. All of these attributes contribute to its accelerating growth and development. As this growth continues, it is essential that the people embrace a true vision for the County which respects the natural environment and traditional lifestyles, allows for responsible growth and quality development with an emphasis on regional cooperation. While striving to enhance our quality of life, a balance must be maintained between fostering growth and development and preserving our natural and cultural resources always respecting the rights of the individual, including private property rights.

Historically an agrarian community, vast expanses of land remain in some form of agricultural use. We should make every effort to support these activities for cultural economic and scenic reasons. This is in keeping with the vision of Thomas Heyward, Jr., a Charleston signer of the Declaration of Independence who said “. . .Agriculture is the parent of commerce; and both together form the great sources from which the wants of individuals are supplied. . .”

Today many of our recreation activities, quality of life, and tourist attractions are derived from our beaches, waterways, scenic beauty, historic preservation, and abundant natural resources. These should be preserved and protected for future generations. Additionally, any visionary transition into the 21st Century mandates quality education.

The economic base of the County is shifting; as a community we should encourage this diversification and growth while providing for a variety of opportunities without compromising traditional values and settlement patterns. Regionally, major employers are the port, tourism, the medical industry, the government and military, agriculture, and increasingly manufacturing, specifically high-tech sophisticated manufacturing. As we support these economic activities and quality growth, coordination and cooperation among the various governmental entities must occur resulting in improved service delivery, high quality development, and unity. This health vibrant community must look to the past, consider the present, and plan for the future in order to remain a superior place to live, work, and play.
